Community Achievement Award Presented to City of Lake Station

Indianapolis, IN – November 1, 2011 – The Indiana Association of Cities and Towns (IACT) presented the City of Lake Station with a 2011 Community Achievement Award for the recently completed city government complex. The award was presented during the 2011 IACT Annual Conference in Indianapolis.

The City of Lake Station's new Government Complex is located in Lake County, IN. This project is one portion of Mayor Keith Soderquist's goal of revitalizing the City of Lake Station. The project construction was managed by The Skillman Corporation and includes the mayor's office, clerk's office, utility office, city court, police station, museum, banquet facility, and a fire/EMS facility. The 34,000 square foot project is pursuing LEED Gold from the U.S. Green Building Council. LEED and green building initiatives were incorporated throughout construction including LED lighting, energy-efficient appliances, photovoltaic parking canopy, geothermal heating and cooling, roof and rain gardens and wind generators.

Pyramid Architecture served as the architect for the City of Lake Station Government Complex.
